this is the century of free decisions and open mind.
how can you say that you go to bed without a pray. it's time to change the world but you're too good to change your mind.
it's time to change the time it's time to stop your fucking crime.

you never helped us. you let us cry. seemed they
looked away. so they let us die. cry! die! you live a lie.
cry! die! you live a lie.

you build the century of the innocent dying. no one wonders can you hear the people crying? it's time to smash your world.
you better change your mind. you say you'd known about nothing. you said the answer's hard to find.
you never helped us. you let us cry. seemed they
looked away. so they let us die. cry! die! you live a lie.

while you are sitting in your bentley. thousands of your people are going away. they're losing their lifes because you little coward have sent them out you get what you want. and you just want to see them die and you don't care about their feelings. of a wife whos' husband died. of a mother who lost her child.
