On a cold dark night a girl stands all alone
No one to hold her tight left to be on her own
All the time the snow came down no way to go, no road to take

A few miles later she stands by the lake Someone freezes beside the water the face is signed by fear
The girl's overwhelmed by compassion
She can't hold back a tear

So she gives away almost all that she's got to save one's life to not drown in the flood We're both alone won't you come with me? No, I'd rather be on my own...

Further on she walks even poorer now, thoughts rush through her mind
Why didn't he want to stay though I have saved his life

A fireplace inside the forest the fire's almost burning
Another girls... life slowly seems to fade she cries for help she screams out loud

So she gives away almost all that she's got to save one's life not to drown in the flood Please come with me I feel so lost no I'll return home maybe one day we'll meet...

It seems like there's no place here on earth but there has to be a place in heaven Out in the cold and still alone no one cares about a lonely girl Another soul is yet to save tonight... one more body not holding her tight Sinking down in the snow she never wakes up again Tomorrow might bring a better place for her Tomorrow might bring a place in heaven

It is a world worth dying for Just because there must be more

Somewhere in this universe
A good heart will be welcome...
