Chocolate brown eyes
Your dark curly hair
Your smile I'll remember
This doesn't seem quite fair

Your strong arms that held me
Your laugh so deep and full
You'll always be remembered
With so much love in my soul

And now you're gone
We didn't get to say good-bye
Now you're gone
and I shed these tears and cry

I find myself dreaming
That you'll walk right through the door
But the truth is finally hitting me
That won't happen anymore

Now you're gone
We didn't get to say good-bye
Now you're gone
And I shed these tears and cry

One day I'll find you
When I finally make it home
And all the questions that linger here
They won't matter anymore

And though you've gone OOOoooOOO
I know you hear Heaven's Song
And though you've gone home with Saviour....you belong
With Jesus you belong

For all of those who have lost someone so tragically that they were never able to say goodbye!
