Clenched Fist
Prtend your way through
No one wants to see a man in agony
Fake smile
Hold back the pain
Say you're okay just to get away
But inside you're lost on how to move
Everything has changed normal is gone
Now it's 3,4
The mourning has come
Wipe away the tears face the rising sun

Where did you go
And do you know you left so much behind
Where did you go
Brother where can I find you

Dig search
An outlet to forget
I just can't flood their memories from my mind
A film a tune
They replay in my head
Now they've lost their meaning they're just not the same
And I try so hard to forget and move on
But nothing seems important my ambitions have gone
Now it's 1,2
The punches have come
My ears keep bleeding to the songs we sung

Where did you go
And do you know you left so much behind
Where did you go
Brother where can I find you

I clench my fist and I grit my teeth
I try to keep moving these sluggish feet
I fake my smile and I laugh at the pain
I beg anyone to take it all away
I tried so hard to change your mind
But the words wouldn't form no matter how I tried

No it's to late what could I say
I keep on counting down our numbered days
