I bleed it out, I dry my veins.
It's all just fragments of you.

My guilt has turned into cancer.
If there is a hell then I am close.
I am leaving without any answers.
Unless you save me.

Only you can resurrect us, and bring us back to life.
But how will we make it if we never dare to try.

You bring out the worst in me.

Time it calls, but don't leave me contrite.
Darkness falls, the rain beats the sunlight.
I'm more of a stranger to the man I used to be.
I fade into dust, I am losing my sight.
We are forgotten, we're hollow tonight.
Tears of neglect, are heading for shore.
This world looks better to me when my eyes are shut.

With scars that'll never fade.
A demon without a shade.
Will forever be secluded,
will never be concluded.

My love, hear me say.
We live as our own prey.
All around is misery,
this world looks better to me when my eyes are shut.
When my eyes are fucking shut.
