Mine De Rien by De Rien

And as I wander down to where you lay the blood rushed up to meet the roses in your hair I thought I saw you smile but now I don't see you anywhere

Whispering your love song in my ear how can you touch me when you're not really here?

Stumbling out I made my way towards the open door climbing fast the sun poured streaming laughter down into your empty gaze where can I find out now I want to join in your game I hear you calling
I hear you ... calling calling calling calling

Whispering your love song in my ear
how can you touch me?
how do you really dare
