I wanna live before I die so don't say I have to cry on one more freezing floor I ask you to open the door and see how things could've gone the reason that it took so long before you could figure out that for so long i was about to break and there were no arms to keep me from harming me and now I'm searching back to see how I never tried to ask for some sympathy cuz no nobody wants to ride with me too far cuz I might trip away but in your arms I'd rather stay

Chorus:

You might just turn into something I like
You might just turn into something I like
You might just turn into something I la...(19 x's)
You might just turn into something I want to dream about something I can't live without my foot is in your head I want you to understand how I could be confused right after being used but still your here in spite when I close my eyes to dream at night I gotta keep my pants on I gotta check my pulse before I've gone too far away to hurt so I think I'll stay around to hear you breathe sayin all those words to me unraveling my fantasy while I drink my oleander tea

Chorus:

You might just turn into something I like
You might just turn into something I like
You might just turn into something I la...(19 x's)
You might just turn into something I like

Yeah yeah yeah yeah yeah yeah

(Instrumental)

You might just turn into something I like
