(repeat)

I heard the phone ring
Then it stopped
It woke me up
It's past two in the afternoon
It's raining

My hair is a mess
A crumpled letter on the floor
A letter I wrote
And threw away last night

Glasses with wine and the Whisky I drank last night
The cat is walking around
The ashtray full of Cigarette ends

I wonder why the war
Is not over
I wonder why
There's still war

When I have a hang-over
I don't need any music
I can't stand
Any music

I went through my mail
Threw a lot of letters away
Had some tea
And the afternoon was over

I just stayed home
Waiting for my new lover
Whom I called
Last night
But thinking of you

Isn't war over
Today?
I don't think
War will end

Why isn't
War over yet?
Why isn't
War over?

I was invited
For dinner
To an expensive restaurant
Where only rich people go

I don't think I'll be wearing
The clothes I was wearing last night
I'll put on new clothes
And go out
I'll ask my rich friends
'what does it
Feel like
To be
Rich? '

I wonder if
War will be over
I don't think
War will ever be over
