To match my blue dress
I cut my hair short
That summer afternoon
So very clear

With a camera
Taking photos of nothing
But your silly poses
On that summer afternoon
So very clear

But the seasons have turned
And a heart simply changes
I remember
Those days
But somethings been lost today too
In the overflowing light
I loved you
On that summer day

I cut my hair too short
And so you kissed it
On that summer afternoon
So very clear
For a whole day like today

But the seasons have turned
And a heart simply changes
I remember
Those days
But somethings been lost today too
In the overflowing light
I loved you
On that summer day
The two of us

To match my blue dress
You gave me flowers
That summer afternoon
So very clear
For a whole day like today
