Poor mans love, the rich mans smarter
Brought to their knees about this girl
I said you were lucky and I meant you were lucky, yeah
All to come in the mystery
Clearly spoke hypocrisy
I said you were lucky and I meant you were lucky

Who do you love
Who do you sleep with
Who do you want
When you're not with me?

You try and pray
You memorize the lies
What you had before, but you're slippin'

Where's the love that you've had
Where's the love that you've had
Where's the love that you've had
Where's the love that you've had (had had)

Was it ever missed out

Oceans turn to drowning seas
We suffocated endlessly
I said you were lucky and I meant you were lucky, yeah
The more that I try not to care
Sick with worry and despair
I said you were lucky and I meant you were lucky

Who do you love
Who do you sleep with
Who do you want
When you're not with me?

You try and pray
You memorize the lies
What you had before, but you're slippin'

Where's the love that you've had
Where's the love that you've had
Where's the love that you've had

Where's the love that you've had

You better face it then

It's devastating

You better face it then, or we're gonna die

Then take your time

Better off without your record

So you've gone gone

Back home for your love, huh!

So far out

You better face it then

Where's the love that you've had

Where's the love that you've had

Where's the love that you've had

Where's the love that you've had
