Romance faked in romance books
Twisting heads and second looks
It's coming clear for me today
All the plastic garbage talk
I wanna take your hand and walk
And take you back to our L.A.

And the tears, they never told me more
And the stories seem so clear
Decisions that we made as kids
Have brought us to right here

Your waterfall
Falls over me
The weight, it brings me
To my knees, and
I'm not at the final gate, cause
In this life, you own my fate, and
A million stars
Your atmosphere
I can see it all
In a single tear...
(A million stars... A million stars... A million stars...)

We did our best, we made the moves
Made us fit like tongue in grooves
We're stronger now than yesterday
Little questions all day long
Makes it hard to write a song
It's the silence, ah, I miss those days

And the tears they never told me more
Of the sadness and the fear
And what we are keeps getting strong
The dreams we lost have never been so near

Your waterfall
Falls over me
The weight, it brings me
To my knees, and
Well I'm not at the final gate, cause

In this life, you own my fate, and
A million stars
Your atmosphere
I can see it all
In a single tear...

(A million stars... A million stars...
A single tear... A single tear...
A million stars...)

Your waterfall
Falls over me
The weight, it brings me
To my knees, and
I might be at final gate, cause
In this life, you own my fate, and
A million stars
Your atmosphere
I can see it all
In a single tear...
(A million stars... A million stars... A million stars...)

In a single tear...
(A million stars... A million stars... A million stars...)
