Now I have seen the hedonistic face
Of the other side of our lives
Impudent reflections
Of the truth we fold away

A downward spiral to a bottomless end
Reaching depths to where we all descend
No rhyme, no reason
Learn the lesson, we failed

We should have seen it coming
No way to turn back now from this place
Our mission clouded the falling
A lifetime incomplete

Deprived in silent misanthropic voids
As we tie the blindfold tight
Struggling with the harness
From when good went bad and bad got worse

So I remember when will was free
Neglect, insufficiency
Time will tell, judgement fell
We've moved beyond the pale

We should have seen it coming...

It all seems so pointless
It all seems so dull
But this is the last stand
I prayed this day wouldn't come

We should have seen it coming...
