In the desert of silence
Walks a man beyond the grave
In his heart many worries
About the world he must save
And now the time has come
You will feel the heat
He's the man with the mighty power
He's the man that you'll need

It was a time when destruction was near
The world lived with pain and fear

In times like these
We got a command
Ban evil
From this wicked land

Evil things that you can do
That's all you ever knew
But now these things are gone
You still feel very strong
The man overwhelming you
Now you know who is who
If you gonna take him by his hand
You're gonna build a perfect land

But now the road will end
You're feeling safe holding his hand
You walk the land, the sea
He's doing it for you and me
