Fisheater got a fish in his hand
Goes down to the bakery to see the baker man
Says, "Even before I got your door
I liked the way you smelled"

Fisheater says to the baker man,
"Bake me a fish cake fast as you can
Well I don't know the ingredients
But I know the way it tastes"

Fish in the water
Fisheater on land
The fish mouth's connected
To the fisherman's hand

Fisheater says, "Please add a little crunch
I go reeling from the feeling when I munch on my lunch
You know I would prefer pecans
But I'd abide by walnuts too"

Fisheater asks "Can you shape it like a star?"
Baker man says "That'll be an extra charge
A dime less six would be for/four sense/cents
And sensibility/centsibility(?)"

It's indirect ascension
This path from sea to land
Because what was the fish meat
Is now become the man
