I want to show you how much, I don't really know you too much
And I can't skip out of this unfortunate predicament
I can't get myself out of it, it's all too much Too late, yes I guess that it's so Guess I just wanted to know
But I can't shirk responsibility considering it's all there is to being me
And I just thought you should know
If you just keep opening doors
I promise that I'll keep testing the locks
Hello, this is the end of the line
Oh yeah, I doing just fine
No I won't pretend that I am open-eyed, unsurprised or anything but Mystified
True and tried, I guess it takes this long to realize
Just how much I don't know
