Come forth all god's children to wallow in redemption
Subservient progeny - the shit generation

So blind, yet you claim you see the light... oh, the irony
Of faith
You stared at the image of god for so long
That it's burnt out your eyes

Stifled by the reek of your stagnation

I choose to be my own savior
You tell me to entrust my soul to our father
Well he's no father of mine

I won't taste the pleasures of paradise
I won't be reborn in afterlife
I believe none of your deceitful words
I believe my existence ends with worms
