Look into a blind man's eyes
Tell me what you see
A picture of your broken past
A masquerade for you and I
To close our eyes and say goodbye
An ending of a time and place that never was

On and on we fall in line
We live we love we do the time
We drown our minds to numb the pain
Then lift them up to feel again

Our lives are hollow broken dreams
That's filled with hope that we once seen
I lived that life one time before
I'm not the man I was before

A feeling once I thought I died
Never you can see
A reason I was gone so high
A desperation you and I would never
Even try to fly
I never want to be alone again
