The sun sets at quarter Â'till 4
The snow is a piling at my door
Snowed in but I donÂ't seem mind
What I needed was a little bit of time
To put the letters that you wrote me in the fire
Oh and they ainÂ't comin back

Where did you go my Jaime dear
Sittin by the window with a single tear
Swamps on fire and the leather leaf
Burnin like the letters that you send to me
Where did you go my darling may
You set like the sin on a winters day
Cold front frost on the window pane
Bottle of whiskey and a pile of shame

If I had a space for my gloom
There wouldnÂ't be big enough a room
All that snow is waging a war
And all I expected was a little more
Effort from you, but I got shown the door
Oh and I ainÂ't comin back

Where did you go my Jaime dear
Sittin by the window with a single tear
Swamps on fire and the leather leaf
Burnin like the letters that you send to me
Where did you go my darling may
You set like the sun on a winters day
Cold front frost on the window pane
Bottle of whiskey and a pile of shame

By the time that spring rolls around
My heart will have melted off the ground
IÂ'll throw out the ashes from the stove
Try to mend heartache that you wove
Keep my feet moving on the road
Oh and I ainÂ't comin back

Where did you go my Jaime dear
IÂ'm sittin by the window with a single tear
Swamps on fire and the leather leaf

Burnin like the letters that you send to me
Where did you go my darling may
You set like the sin on a winters day
Cold front frost on the window pane
Bottle of whiskey and a pile of shame
