"Little Bit Of Poison"

you need a little bit of poison
to keep you strong

first love is the hardest cut you like a knife if it doesn't kill you you get on with your life wind and rain and stormy weather love and pain just run together

you need a little bit of poison
to keep you strong

second time sweet and kind look out or you'll fall think you'll leave her love behind it ain't that way at all she's on your mind night and day but she's a million miles away

you need a little bit of poison
to keep you strong

the way you love me leaves me weak too weak to even cry if you go you'll kill me girl, don't even try first a little then a little more make me forget where I been before

I need a little bit of poison
to keep me strong
