I still think about you every day
And how I let you down in every way
But I know I'll see you one day soon again
I'll get to see your smiling face again

I'm sorry I was such a loser
I should I have been around more
My stupid body let me down
Wouldn't let me walk out the door
Now I regret everything and more

When you died all the good days went with you
You were existence for the reasons that were true
But I look to the day when I'll see you once again
When I'll get to here you sing in the end...

I'm sorry I was such a loser
I should I have been around more
My stupid excuses let me down
Wouldn't let me walk out the door
Now I regret everything and more

I still think about you every day
And how when you died I threw everything away
But I know I'll see you one day soon again
I'll get to hear you singing again

I'm sorry I was such a loser
I should I have been around more
My pathetic existence let me down
Wouldn't let me walk out the door
Now I regret everything and more
But I know I'll get to meet you once again
I'll get to hear you singing in the end
I can't wait to see you again!
