Can you smell this photograph of us
As it burns, as it burns
I've never felt this real before

Can you feel the breaking of your heart
As I leave out the door
I know you've felt this way before

A thousand lies you've said to me
Don't you think this should have happened sooner than later
A thousand more were hurt before me
Do they even know what they gave to be near her
Did they hear her

I've never been a thorn in your side
I've never been a burden to you
I've never thought of leaving you behind
But you've forgotten all we've been through

Looking back on the times that you've cried
It was me that was always there for you
Now the love we've fought for has died

Can you see the spark inside my eye
As we kiss, as we kiss
You'll never see that spark again

Can you hear the sound of your own voice
As you plead, and you beg
I'm sorry but we can't be friends

The day you turned to me and you said
If I lose you now well I'll be dead
Well tell me girl was it worth it now
You're still alive, you're still alive

I've never been a thorn in your side
I've never been a burden to you
I've never thought of leaving you behind
But you've forgotten all we've been through

Looking back on the times that you've cried
It was me that was always there for you
Now the love we've fought for has died

[Repeat chorus]
