Out of nowhere you came
From a little dust and a little rain
And when I looked down on your face
It showed to me the truth and grace

I will always try to keep you very safe

So open up your eyes
So they can look in mine
And see your small reflection

And when you close your eyes
I pray the thoughts inside
Are beautiful and true

I won't always be this strong
And I won't always be the one
To kiss the bruise or heal the scrapes
To wipe the tear drops from your face

And I will always love you more each day

So open up your eyes
So they can look in mine
And see your small reflection

And when you close your eyes
I pray the thoughts inside
Are beautiful and true

I will always love you more each day
I will always try to keep you safe

So open up your eyes
So they can look in mine
And see your small reflection

And when you close your eyes
I pray the thoughts inside
Are beautiful and true

I will always, I will always love you
