Manic

She breathes in, she breaths out
She wakes up and lays down
She can hardly speak and so she screams

I won't give again
'Cause she takes it so often

Nothing I say will wash it away
I'm standing in the pouring rain
You say it won't happen again
You're manic, manic

There's a chemical in your brain
It's pouring sunshine and in rage
You can never know what to expect
You're manic, manic

She loves you and hates you
You break down, she feels good
She will bleed from insecurity

When will she heal from this?
I love her still

Nothing I say will wash it away
I'm standing in the pouring rain
You say it won't happen again
You're manic, manic

There's a chemical in your brain
It's pouring sunshine and in rage
You can never know what to expect
You're manic, manic

Manic

Manic

She's got everything, you want
She's every little thing you're not, yeah

Nothing I say will wash it away
I'm standing in the pouring rain
You say it won't happen again
You're manic, manic

There's a chemical in your brain
It's pouring sunshine and in rage
You can never know what to expect
You're manic, manic

Nothing I say will wash it away
I'm standing in the pouring rain
You say it won't happen again
You're manic, manic

There's a chemical in your brain
It's pouring sunshine and in rage
You can never know what to expect
You're manic, manic
