The dinosaurs are coming home
They'll breathe again when the kings are gone

Gone with us and every sign
Except their names stamped on satellites

Who put these kings on their thrones now?
It's you and I
Make them all that they're worth now?
It's you and I

Don't know how we'll say goodbye
But winter's warming up for our hearts
Our small hearts
That play a part

Born of love and of healthy minds
The innocent can try a second time

And they'll put kings on their thrones just
Like you and I
Give them what they're not worth just
Like you and I
Build it bigger better use up everything and
Credit use more credit
To help digest all the shit we're in
Its easy

I had a dream
Of infinity
It's just a loop
Of dinosaurs and satellites

(Build it bigger better use up everything and
Credit take the credit
For the voice and choice you breed)

Don't know how we'll say goodbye
But winter's warming up for our hearts
Our small hearts
That play a part

That play a part
