[chorus:]

The shot - i need the antidote - shot - gimme the antidote

The shot - i want the antidote - i guess i need a lot

I guess i

This is a fucking addict - where you bring on designer dearth

It comes an' breeds dependency just about everywhere

You hand out on the free shots to cover me, 'n' hover me

Ah hell, then you set up a factory

Fuck yeah - you're leaning on the going rates

The keeper of the code, the filter at the gates

You play a crystal part in throwing off the weights

And every passive monitor collaborates

Transistors are asphyxiant

The screens are blistering like they're effervescent

These agents have a go at... at the gathering

Of raw radiation poisoning

[chorus]

This is fucking traffic - where the factory lines engage

Where the moral men don't ever get to centre stage

Where the artery feels like it is not

And then they pack you with a phat shot

Ah yeah - there's death on the wind again

Countless anarchists addicted to arrangement

Syringe, the shot, the right dose of the product

And then they beat you till you're comatose

The quintessence of diligence

Nothing more compulsive than my common sense

You got to beat the doors of liberation

On and on and on and on an

Tacit subordinates - with your dismal pamphlets

Why even post the bills - fuck that, these are poison pills

The settler sets the scene - it's filled with atropine

Turns out that all is counterfeit - i waste your fucking hit

The shot - why not become the poison - shot - that bears the antidote

The shot - why not become the poison - antidote
