I will paint you in a corner
In a room where the light is on
You will see love stands to reason
You can feel it inside
I think you've known it all along

When I touch you with Occam's razor
I will cut you between truth and lie
And I will get through with Occam's razor
Cut your soul from the heart of darkness

Now keep your eyes wide open
When reason kills the lie
I've answered all your questions
Don't you cry sweet baby
Everybody's gotta die

It's gonna hurt bad for a while
