Hey

I know that lately things have been so hard
And looking out through your broken heart
All you can see is dark and lonely days ahead
But remember Jesus said

He knows every star in the sky
Every single tear that you cry
His love is here faithful and alive
I know that this world can be cold
In His arms you're never alone
That's His promise to you and I

When hope had disappeared and your heart aches
You might not recognize the touch of grace
But on the other side of every dying dream
His love is waiting patiently

He knows every star in the sky
Every single tear that you cry
His love is here faithful and alive
I know that this world can be cold
In His arms you're never alone
That's the promise to you and I

With every angel there's a love that never leaves your side
His love is deeper than the ocean or a mountain high
You've got to know there's hope in your heart
And if you listen with your heart I know you'll hear Him say
"You are my child and I am with you each and everyday"
He is the one who knows your soul

He knows every star in the sky
Every single tear that you cry
His love is here faithful and alive
I know that this world can be cold
In His arms you're never alone
That's the promise for you and I

He knows every star in the sky
Every single tear that you cry
His love is here faithful and alive
I know that this world can be cold
In His arms you're never alone
That's the promise for you and I
That's the promise for you and I
