I'm only human no one can undo it
I was made to be who I am
My star will shine; it's brightest
When darkness is around us
Beauty's so much deeper than skin

If you're out there and you feel scared
If you need an honest answer
I'll be right here

Cuz I am not that type
I think we're all the same it's what you got inside
Me and you can make a move
If we stand for our feelings and fight

Cuz something ain't right so let's start tonight
Together we'll mend, make the world love again

We'll make it love again, make it love again
We'll make it love, love, make it love again
Make the world love again,
We'll make it love, love, love, love again

Sending out a message to anyone that needs it
Nothing's hitting closer to home
Looking for a new day, change is heading our way
Only tryin' to give you some hope

If you're out there, know I'm right here
And I follow my mind
Gotta stand for what you feel inside

Cuz something ain't right, so let's start tonight
Together we'll mend, make the world love again

We'll make it love again, make it love again
We'll make it love, love, make it love again
Make the world love again,
We'll make it love, love, love, love again

(Make the world love again [x2])

We're finally dancing on a brand new floor
Hold your opinions check 'em in at the door
There's nothing better than the struggle for more
How do we make the world love again

Cuz something ain't right, so let's start tonight
Together we'll mend, make the world love again

We'll make it love again, make it love again
We'll make it love, love, make it love again
Make the world love again,
We'll make it love, love, love, love again

(Make the world love again [x2])
