You got a spike strip to make sure that I won't get far
You've still your pretty face but I don't recognize you
At all
Your words seem spiteful though your words sound so
Familiar
I am captured by my thoughts and that's the reason for
Thy fall
Indeed
You should be wondering
You were all I ever wished
Now I wonder how selfish and false one can be
Saw our friendship rising, now I watch it die again
It's hard to believe: the rose sheds it's leaves
In the blink of an eye you turn from truth to lie
Turn from right to wrong, turn right away from me
This is our last goodbye
I feel so much for you
I should be wondering
There was nothing I could do
