Goodbye, long-standing friend
I have taken your words seriously
I try to comprehend
Why we're going separate ways
See, my empty heart
Has been chained - you can't rip it apart
Every link was forged
For my own sake, my defence
My eyes cannot be sacrificed
Your lies cannot be justified
I don't believe in things I've never felt
Won't close my mind but close my heart instead
As I bleed from gashing wounds
But you won't cut me twice
In times when music is the only sheet anchor left
In the sea of disappointment
And every ferry-tale sinks to the ground
