I found myself not changed
You underestimated my quest for perfection
You underestimated my quest for affection
"When you are near I can touch the sky"
This is another wasted lie
All these sweet words, they now taste so bitter
So you spit them out as if they meant none
You shove me away, you push, you sham
How can I believe that you're feeling sorry?
I am feeling your frustration
Intimidation thrives again
Deception underlines the pain
I see true eyes, while hearing the voice of a liar
Why can't you shut them now?
You cannot blind me forever
Cause I have been through all this before
The darkness covers storms of doubt
