I want to apologize and say all the words to make it right. I hope that this means a lot to you. I never wanted to put you through anything like this. I wish I could make myself believe. Sometimes what is right isn't always what you want. Our past will always be here for future reference. For future reference. Things that make sense sometimes may never work out. I hope that I never let you down. All I ever needed was a chance (all I ever needed). All I ever needed was a chance (all I ever needed)...a chance. Sometimes what is right isn't always what you want. Our past will always be here for future reference. For future reference. Sometimes what is right isn't always what you want. Our past will always be here. Our past will always be here for future reference. Our past will always be here for future reference.
