Fuck em man, I mean seriously
You cant please everyone, you better please yourself

I say what I like, and step to the side
I let everybody know that I got nothing to hide
So come as you are, yeah you can fit in All these worldwide misfits orphans akin
Okay, family ties; our hearts, our minds
You can feel the love, you can see it in my eyes
I'm an open book, a broken soul
You can hear the blues in the way I flow
So I shed tears, and I'm not ashamed
To say I cried like a baby on election day
So I raise a drink and inhale the smoke
And I remember that sometimes that's the way she goes

It's the love you show, the family grows
Let everybody know that they cant control you

The way it goes, that's the choice you make Every precious minute, every night and day
Yeah the change is here, we make it rain
And wash everything away so we can breathe again
We breathe again, the breath we take Another step in hope, yes that's the choice we make
The choice we make, to make a change
To see the family and embrace the pain
Yeah we embrace the pain and the lessons learn And we remember that's the reason why we came to earth
So lets raise a drink and inhale the smoke
And lets remember that's just the way she goes

It's the love you show, the family grows
Let everybody know that they cant control you

Fuck em man, I mean seriously
You cant please everyone, you better please yourself

You came to earth to live the dream

You wake up and you live, and what you thought you'd seen
What you thought you'd seen while you were sound asleep
And now you're wide awake and you walk the streets
You walk the streets, you learn to dance
To turn away from fear and give hope a chance
You give hope a chance and the children sing
They sing about the love and the hope you bring
The hope you bring is the love you share
And every living moment, let 'em know you care
Let 'em know you care, 'cause you're all they know
Every little smile, every little soul
(the love you show, the family grows)
Every little smile, every living soul
(the love you show, the family grows)
Do it for the kids man, (hÃ%â„¢d) p.e. loves the kids

It's the love you show, the family grows
Let everybody know that they can't control you

Fuck 'em man, I mean seriously
You cant please everyone, you better please yourself

Let everybody know that they cant control you
