Is this really how quickly it goes away?
I can't feel my emotions arrive today.

Cuz I still love how you say my name
I still taste you kissing my pain away
Still see your tears through the rain.
These burning sensations sustain.

Feel the distance bring us closer,
Water would cool and soothe my pain.
If we could touch now, just hold on now
Bridges would never burn again

I've seen this yearning take on a frightening form
The memory of you will make sure my past lingers on

And I still love how you say my name
I still taste you kissing my pain away
Still see your tears through the rain
These burning sensations sustain

Feel the distance bring us closer,
Water would cool and soothe my pain,
If we could touch now, just hold on now
Bridges would never burn again

Don't you worry,
There'll be a time
when our hearts beat the same,
Let life carry,
Across the distance
I still see your flame.
Don't you worry,
There'll be a time
when our hearts beat the same,
Let life carry

Still love how you say my name
I still taste you kissing my pain away
Still see your tears through the rain
These burning sensations sustain

Feel the distance bring us closer.
Water would cool and soothe my pain.
If we could touch now, just hold on now
Bridges would never burn again
Water would cool and soothe my pain
Bridges would never burn again
Water would cool and soothe my pain
Bridges would never burn again
Water would cool and soothe my pain
Bridges would never burn again
Water would cool and soothe my pain
