Never above, never below, always beside

I chose to back off from this open wound, to sweep this all into flames.

Scream under streetlights 'till the voice takes leave.
Life's beautiful miseries.

Never above, never below, always beside

But you can't make amends when no one lends a chance to make up a time to love.
I find myself into situations that bloom, and you were right, I should do something.
But maybe I should be the first to know this can't be fixed overnight,
But I know, It's getting out of line.
Never above, never below, always beside

But you can't make amends when no one lends a chance to make up a time to love.
This is everything that stands between the sky and grave...

This is everything that stands between us, that stands between us, into the darkness take us there and through these years
I've shown my wear.
Though I'm hardened still I'm prepared to fight..

But you can't make amends when no one lends a chance to make up a time to love.
This is everything that stands between the sky and the grave...
