"With nothing underneath"

"You should've called out
Made ammends
Broken hearts breath unison
I was trying to gather mine
All my tragedies are my enemies
All my enemies are mine

And we carry on
Just to lighten the load

Never had I been such outsider
Eyes of the blamed
While I was trying to reclaim
All my tragedies are my enemies
All my enemies are mine

And we carry on
Just to lighten the load
And silently we sleep with nothing underneath

With weary hands and driven nails
I begin to rebuild myself
The bruises uncover the scene
The taste of the clean

Outlasting
Just to lighten the load
And silently we sleep with nothing underneath

With your voice I keep you
With your voice I keep you
Never used like this gently"
