Walking under coozoned overtones
Dripping down from this above
Longing for the answer
For why I hate and who I love Clouded thoughts amongst this blinding fury in my mind
Who said greed was a good idea?
Why is it so cruel to be kind?

Staring in the puddles beneath my feet
Who's this stranger looking back at me
Life's a long road to traverse
Lost myself along the way

Sounds around the icy air
On the take and on the run
Don't bother talking
Just keep walking forward
Who am I to run from Earth
They keep looking in from the out
Who were you to judge me
Who were you to cast doubt

Staring in the puddles beneath my feet
Who's this stranger looking back at me
Life's a long road to traverse
Lost myself along the way
Lost myself along the way
