You are Lord of life, love and other mysteries
I find in You all I ever need to know

Some say that life is a string of romances
To some it's a series of choices and chances
While some only live for the curious dances
Of whatever music's at hand

And some look for love in the eyes of a stranger
And some love the thrill of the edges of danger
But I have found joy in a world filled with anger
'Cause I finally understand

Chorus:

You are Lord of life, love and other mysteries
You know my future, You know my history
I find in You all I ever need to know
About life and love and other mysteries

I cannot reason with men in defiance
Or try to explain all the mysteries of science
'Cause I'm just a child in the face of these giants
But I never face them alone

Cause when it seems that my heart is surrounded
When all of our questions of life have been sounded
I rest in the hope where my faith has been grounded
I do not fear the unknown, 'cause

Chorus

Your wisdom confounds the wisest of wise
Your mercy is truth in a world full of lies
Your grace saves us all from a certain demise

CHORUS (2x)

You are lord of life, you're lord of love
(and other mysteries)
You are lord of life, you're lord of love
(other mysteries)
