Hearts of hope seem hard to find these days
As darker deeds have their time on center stage
We watch it all unfolding scene by scene
And a happy ending seems a fading dream

Fear and desperation have their day
At least until faith steps up to say

I believe, though God is out of sight
He's working in the middle of all things
Evil may have its time in the spotlight
But love is waiting in the wings
Love is always waiting in the wings

It's your life, as it plays out don't forget it
Heartache comes but the stories not done yet
Oh, when shadows come, your courage wants to fade
Oh but in a moment, everything can change

I believe, though God is out of sight
He's working in the middle of all things
Evil may have its time in the spotlight
Oh, but love is waiting in the wings
Love is always waiting in the wings

There's always more to any story
Than just what's here and now
There's not one hopeless situation
That can't be turned around

I believe, though God is out of sight
He's working in the middle of all things, oh
Evil may have its time in the spotlight
Oh, but love is waiting in the wings
Love is always waiting in the wings

Love is always waiting in the wings
