So you've opened your eyes
Too late in the day
They wait for you in the room

You know they
(And so you've opened your eyes)
Are having
(Too late in the day)
Conversations of punishment
(And they wait for you inside the room)

And you know that they are Having conversations of punishments

Last night
(Last night you lost control)
You lost
(Broke all their blood)
Control
(Pumping mechanisms)

So you stand
(So now you stand)
(In front of the polished sand)
In front of the
(Wondering what will become of you and them)
Polished sand

They are scared
Burn them like you did the rest
They are dead
Burn them like you did the rest

And one step in front of the other
You make your way to them
You've rehearsed these words so many times
Say it like you mean it

You always yell
You always yell
You always yell
You
