A trainer's life is hard
You're travel routes so far
Away from friends and family
You learn to sacrifice
Always ready to pay the price
But what you have to understand
Even heroes need a helping-hand
Whatever you want, whatever you need
You know you can always count on me
There'll always be someone waiting
'Cause you're never too far from home
Where ever you go, whatever you do
You know we'll be there to pull you through
You know there'll be someone waiting
'Cause you're never too far from home
We never had a doubt
You'd always figure out
Which way you're going
Be proud of what you've done
And the person you've become
But if you ever feel afraid
We're gonna help you find your way
Whatever you want, whatever you need
All of our love will set you free
You know there'll be someone waiting
'Cause you're never too far from home
Where ever you go, whatever you do
All of your dreams will soon come true
You know there'll be someone waiting
You're never too far from home
You're never too far
You're never too far
You're never too far from home
You're never too far
You're never too far
You're never too far from home
You're never too far from home!
Whatever you want, whatever you need
You know you can always count on me
There'll always be someone waiting
You're never too far from home
Where ever you go, whatever you do

You know we'll be there to pull you through
You know there'll be someone waiting
You're never too far from home
Whatever you want, whatever you need
All of our love will set you free
You know there'll be someone waiting
You're never too far from home
Where ever you go, whatever you do
All of your dreams will soon come true
You know there'll be someone waiting
You're never too far from home

And this song is soo freaking gay!
No one would know
Oh how this song sucks ass
