Lyrics by Anjani Thomas
Music by Anjani & Fernando Girao

You rushed me like an April wind
Around my feet, you made the river bend
When it rained silver diamonds
I had to follow you
I was the candle to your flame
You said one day, I'd wear silver diamonds

I was searching for so long
Till I finally heard the sound of your voice
Gentle and pure
It's a dream of wishful dreamers
To be taken by surprise
The deepest emotion flows out of you
Into my heart, my lips and my eyes
On the tips of my fingers

I saw the universe unfold
Into a stream of light and stars and gold
You were there in the silence
The honey fire of autumn spread
Into these chambers while I dreamt
Of the crown you wove of silver diamonds
