Black clouds surround me when you're not around Wanting so bad just to be with you right now Should've known this was too good to be true Would've given anything just to be with you

Night after night i ly and wonder why as i stare at the ceiling
Try and I Try but i cant deny i wont get rid of this feeling i can not believe that you would throw everything away after all that we been thru

This pain inside i cant describe but when you are with me it all goes away Close my eyes and see your face but its not the same

What did i do that was so fucking wrong cant except the fact that your gone everything seems so fucking hard constantly depressed and my mind is scarred still wish it was you and me but i guess true love is only found in dreams was abandoned in my time of need

Since you left i've been feeling so cold and im forced to face this hell alone blank stares and im wishing you're there cause the love you gave me no one can compare

In a world so dark, you were my only light as i promise you this i wont never forget your face

This pain inside i cant describe
but when you are with me it all goes away Close my eyes and see your face
but its not the same

Bring my mind back some peace and your the reason i cant sleep all's left now is memories feel so weak fall to my knees i still long for my release my insides became deceased always be a part of my past you'll always be my first and last
