(chorus) I will not ever forget
I will not have no regrets

This is something you must understand This hate wont go away only expands

Now everytime that I see your face
I am reminded that my skies are grey I cant forgive and I wont forget thinkin my every word is a threat

Wanting to fly away, so that i can be free and look down on the word that looks down on me

You always make a problem outta nothing always thinking that im starting something now that i risen i wont fall again thought it was over but caught my second wind (chorus)
Now that you know the truth, will you stay just as i thought, you turned and walked away

And you left me here with this disease leaving my heart below 20 degrees why cant you see what you've done to me outside seems fine but inside i bleed its just the visions of you, branded in my head its the visions of you, layin there dead

Glad that you're gone but wish you were here feeling so awkward feeling so weird
part of my life pushed deep in the past cant sleep at night without hearing your laugh
(chorus)
After all i've done you cast me away how can you stand the reflection of your face

Glad that your gone but wish you were here
feeling so awkward feeling so weird
part of my life pushed deep in the past cant sleep at night without hearing you LAUGH!!!

Ever Forget
Have No Regrets x 4
