I was up half the night trying to draw you
Now you're never gonna look the same
I couldn't figure out the number to call you
Before you turned into what you became

Bethlehem [x2]
Calling out your name

I couldn't figure out the number to call you
Now you're never gonna look the same

I'm losing track of time and I'm forgetting
Anything I might have planned
So can you get me to the chemical wedding
And tell me where I'm meant to stand

Bethlehem [x2]
Reaching for your hand

I gotta feeling that I might be forgetting
Everywhere I'm meant to stand

So
Now
There's a guy
In my precious little map
I'm falling apart
In the never ending night
All
I can do
Is substitute a map of you
And that's alright

Bethlehem [x2]

Bethlehem [x2]

Bethlehem [x2]

I couldn't figure out the number to draw you
Now you're never gonna look the same
