Casting away
the silent drum for marching to the journeys end is it here you shall stay if only you knew the way if the day
arrives to find you dreaming of a distant place will it turn away if only you could be sure if you have all you came for
will you stay
or rise to find the same game
will you play
you turn to question
your reaction will display

Lightly you tread upon the branch, will it give way or hold you high for all you know its only you who can say feel the glow of endless minds sleeping and now they are dreaming of a distant place still unknown
