where did you get that burned out look? why did you sell all your favorite books everybody's got a question for you everybody wants to know if it's true everybody's saying that you stole it from them everybody's saying that you'll do it again everybody's saying that you're falling apart

I don't want to see you lost
I don't want to watch you lose your way
I don't want to have to say you seem ok
I don't want to make that choice pretending that I just don't hear your voice everytime I see you somewhere in this town but everybody's saying that you're crumbling down where are you going with that nice tv what happened to the one that you borrowed from me everybody's been looking for you everybody wants to know if it's true

everybody's saying that you stole it from them
everybody's saying that you'll do it again

I don't want to see you lost
I don't want to watch you lose your way
I don't want to have to say you seem ok
but everybody's saying that you're crumbling down
