

DrawCard

"A Night Of Sobering Thoughts"

Visit "A Night Of Sobering Thoughts" on MotoLyrics.com

You wake up tomorrow, without her there
Without her in your arms you walk yourself home,
To drunk to say a word to me
And you will take the next step
Try drown your fears in oceans
You will take the next step down

It's understated that we're falling down way from the top
It's underneath, your skin and creeping out like a tide that drowns you
And it's going to explode!

Now you will stand up one last time, and will open up your eyes, just like clouds across the sky
People live people die, and they wont wake up alright
You should have known then

You should have left them behind
You should have told them to die.
You should have told them not to think:

It's understated that you're falling down way from the top
It's underneath, your skin and creeping out like a tide that drowns you
And it's going to explode!

Fire! Fire! Fire!
Fire! Fire! Fire!

And you will take the next step
Try drown your fears in oceans.
You will take the next step down.

It's understated that you're falling down way from the top
It's underneath, your skin and creeping out like a tide that drowns you
And it's going to explode!

