Been betrayed by my loved one
May their sky turn black above
May they choke on each other's tongues
May they never fall in love
May they smother in their lust
May their desire turn stale
May their dreams turn to dust
May jealousy prevail
Been betrayed by my loved one
May their sky turn black above
May they choke on each other's tongues
May they never fall in love
May his lack of faith disturb her
And the coldness of his hand
May his distance confuse her
May she never understand
Let the image of my face
Pressed up against her face

And the time that she was mine
Burn into her mind
Let the image of my face
Pressed up against her face
And the time that she was mine
Burn into her mind
Been betrayed by my loved one
May their sky turn black above
May they choke on each other's tongues
May they never fall in love
May they never fall in love
May they never fall in love
May they never
Never
Never fall in love
May they never
Never
Never fall in love
May they never
Never
Never fall in love
May they never

Never
Never fall in love
