"Open Your Eyes"

Open your eyes now
My love
Open your eyes now
My love

In the temple of her mind
She has driven it away
This dark and mortal day
Angels calling her to stay
And thought her heart falls heavy
There is a spark of light inside
And showers her with light

Her eyes explored me at such distance
Translucent scarlet came across
I felt a rush within her circle

Open your eyes now
My love
Open your eyes now
My love

While she stumbles through the noise
In another space and time
This translucent light
Is burning in her mind
A fortress in her thoughts
To compose herself in time
A mirror full of dreams
A mirror free of lies
